Resident of home linked to Ford dealt cocaine

15 Windsor Rd.
Another inhabitant of the Etobicoke house was convicted on a weapons charge

One resident of the home where Mayor Rob Ford was photographed with murder victim Anthony Smith has been convicted of trafficking cocaine.

Another was found guilty of possessing a prohibited weapon.

In 2011, Elena Johnson, the 51-year-old daughter of homeowner Lina Basso, was convicted for trafficking cocaine. She was given a six-month suspended sentence

Her brother, Fabio Basso, was convicted in 2005 of possessing a prohibited weapon: a spring-activated knife. He was fined $250.

Neighbours of 15 Windsor Rd. said Johnson, who lives at the house with her mother and brothers Fabio, 45, and Mario Basso, 40, is known to have drug problems. Police frequently visit the address, which is notorious for drugs, according to people who live in the area.

Officers were at the Etobicoke home on May 21, the same night a 27-year-old man was shot in the leg at a nearby highrise on Dixon Road.

Police were called to the Windsor Road address at about 11 p.m. for an assault, police spokesman Mark Pugash said Thursday. A man forced his way inside the house and assaulted two people with a weapon. He fled on foot eastbound on Kingsview Boulevard.

A Toronto EMS spokesperson confirmed that a man and woman living in the area were taken to hospital with "very minor injuries" at the same time as the Windsor Road incident.

No arrests have been made.

It's not clear whether there's a link between the highrise shooting and the Windsor Road assault. Torstar News Service has been told by police the shooting was accidental.

It's been almost three weeks since Torstar revealed two reporters had seen a video of the mayor appearing to smoke crack cocaine.

Sources later told Torstar that Ford blurted out to staff the video could be located in an apartment on the 17th floor of 320 Dixon Rd. — the same floor where the shooting occurred, according to sources.

Cops link 3 missing men in Gay Village

'It scares the crap out of me.' Still no leads in 2010 disappearances, Toronto police say

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

A tip to police last November about a man who went missing in Toronto's Gay Village two years earlier prompted them to check for other men, of similar backgrounds and lifestyle, who had also gone missing.

Police have now noted similarities in three men gone missing in the past three years and have begun a new investigative project to solve their disappearances.

Det. Deb Harris would not disclose what the tip was, only that it led her to seek out missing men with similar lifestyles and ethnic backgrounds.

She wouldn't comment on the fear someone has killed the missing men.

"I can tell you that since these three men went missing, none of their families have heard from them. None of their friends have heard from them. We have done numerous judicial authorizations to try to find the whereabouts of any of the three and after all of that, there are still no leads as to where these three people may be," Harris said.

The tip was about Skandaraj "Skanda" Navaratnam, last seen on Sept. 6, 2010 leaving Zipperz bar with an unknown man. He left his dog behind, which would be very unusual for him to do, police said.

Abdulbasir "Basir" Faizi was reported missing on Dec. 29, 2010. He was seen at 7 p.m. on Dec. 28, 2010 leaving his workplace on Kitimat Road in Mississauga. The subsequent investigation put his last known location in the Church and Wellesley area, police said. His car was recovered on Moore Avenue.

Majeed "Hamid" Kayhan was reported missing by his son, who said he was last seen on Oct. 14, 2012. Kayhan was active in the community of Church and Wellesley, police said.

Officers handed out flyers about the missing men Thursday on Church Street.

Reading the flyers, Michael Fournier said he recognized Faizi from the Black Eagle leather bar and Navaratnam from Zipperz.

"If these three are missing because they're gay, it scares the crap out of me, but it doesn't surprise me," he said.

51 Division Supt. John Tanouye said there is no indication of foul play in the cases.

Anyone with information can call 416-808-5110.

Looking for tips

"It's not my intention to cause fear in the gay community, it's my intention to seek information and assistance from them."

Tim Bosma case

Police unsure about 3rd suspect

The lead investigator in the murder of Tim Bosma said police are considering the possibility there is no third suspect.

Police earlier alleged the two men climbed into Bosma's 2007 Dodge Ram and were then followed by a second car. A third suspect was believed to be the person driving that second car.

A life of only yes and no

Mind without a voice.
Family relies on a series of questions to guess at what their son has to say

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

"Do people talk down to you?" I ask.

Kerr Wattie blinks, indicating yes. Then, through the computer mounted on the back of the wheelchair, he says, "Thanks."

I can't ask him to elaborate because our interview is conducted solely with yes-and-no questions, to which he blinks for yes or doesn't blink — meaning no — and his family helps by telling me more about him.

As we sit on the deck looking over their lush backyard in central Toronto, they tell me Kerr has cerebral palsy, low vision and can't speak. He gets absence seizures often, which takes him away from the conversation and stops him from moving.

So, when he doesn't blink, to indicate "no," his family will ask him if he means no, or if he's just temporarily unable to respond.

It's not easy to be heard when you can't speak. Thousands of Canadians "speak" via computer, inputting what they want to say by typing with their hands, feet, head movements or eyes. Others use low-tech symbol-and-letter boards.

For Kerr, who uses what is known as augmentative and alternative communication (AAC), speaking is a family activity. The people who know him best — his mother Gail Fisher-Taylor, brother Skye Wattie and father Burns Wattie — guide him through conversations by listing options and potential answers to their questions and interpreting his blinking.

Complexity of thought

"Sometimes we just don't get the right questions."
Gail Fisher-Taylor, mother of Kerr Wattie

Kerr also uses an auditory scanning communication device that quietly speaks cues for menus, sentences, phrases and words that he can choose from by pressing a button, which tells the computer-generated voice what to say loudly enough for others to hear.

However, it's slow to use, especially when he goes into a seizure as the devices scans through options and he has to start all over again. So, the family is working on building a low-tech book with different tabs and lists of words they can use to better guide conversations.

Kerr Wattie and his brother Skye share a moment at their family home in Toronto. JESSICA SMITH/METRO

"Is it hard to express what you want to say through yes and no?" I ask.

He blinks "Yes."

"It's hard for us, too," adds Skye, Kerr's brother. "Sometimes we just don't know the answer and we get exhausted guessing. The thing about novel thoughts is that they're novel."

And Skye doesn't seem to become exhausted easily. In 2011, he cycled across Canada meeting alternative communicators and raising awareness about AAC, bringing Kerr along in a bike trailer for parts of the trip.

When Skye explains that Kerr needs his family's help to communicate, Kerr indicates that he disagrees. After a little back-and-forth about what exactly he disagrees with, Skye asks him if what he means is that some people, but not many, will have the patience to engage him in conversation without help from his family. Kerr blinks to agree.

It's a theme Kerr returns to in the interview. People need to realize that it takes time to communicate with someone who uses AAC, but it's worth it. Just because you can't speak, doesn't mean you don't have thoughts that need to be heard.

Kerr speaks

Kerr Wattie will be attending the Breaking the ICE Conference in Toronto this weekend, an event held for and by people who use augmentative and alternative communication, with open-forum discussions, speeches and socializing on the agenda.

- Kerr gives semi-regular talks at York University and will be speaking at the conference.
- He'll write the talk with the help of his family, who will give options of words or phrases he'll choose from and order into a speech.

TTC ADDS ITS SUPPORT FOR A NATIONAL TRANSIT STRATEGY

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

At a recent event at The Canadian Club of Toronto, I was asked for my views about how to pay for large-scale transit improvement and expansion.

Noting that much can be achieved by better management within existing budgets, I said that, to a large extent, I am agnostic about how expansion is funded, but that I am clear that sustainable, long-term funding needs to be found if we are to keep up with ever-rising passenger numbers. Such funds would need to carry a guarantee that they would only be used for specified transit projects.

As has been previously noted, the TTC is experiencing exponential rises in ridership as our city expands and we must find a way to fund increased service, additional vehicles and infrastructure. While it is great to see the "sea of cranes" as new condo buildings go up, I am increasingly concerned about our ability to keep up with demand if we don't have the funding to achieve this.

This challenge is not unique to Toronto, of course, rather it is an issue across Canada as the population grows and people flock to transit.

It seems to me more relevant than ever that there should be a national transit strategy to identify what is required to tackle gridlock and to improve transit infrastructure so that it powers our economy forward.

This is not a political point – it is for the various levels of government to identify how to fund large-scale transit expansion. Rather it is the TTC adding its support for a comprehensive plan to tackle the growing problem of congestion and quality of life.

ASKTTC: HAND GRIPS

Dear TTC,

Many of the features on the new open subway trains are great, but there are too few places to hold onto when the trains are crowded. For those who are my height (5 feet 4 inches, 164 cm) or under, the gripping rails running down the centre of the car ceilings are too high to reach. Can you add a line of reachable, retractable hand grips down the middle of the whole length of the ceiling? They wouldn't be in the way normally, and would be available when needed.

Charlotte

Hi Charlotte,

The TTC strives to make its vehicles accessible to everyone. The stanchion bars that used to run down the centre of the aisle, for example, were removed to give customers with mobility devices more room. On the new Toronto Rocket (TR) trains, the centre stanchion bars were replaced with retractable hand grips spanning the length of the ceiling. However, as the first few TR's entered service, we did receive feedback that there were not enough grips, especially under the low ceiling which contains the AC unit. In response, the TTC began testing a new grid of stanchion bars on two trains, under the AC unit, with additional yellow straps (pictured) for customers of shorter stature. TTC staff met with the Advisory Committee on Accessible Transit and CEO Andy Byford met with customers to discuss the new feature. While the changes were well received, the TTC is still working on a comprehensive solution. The two test trains will remain in service as staff continue to work through the cost and schedule needed to retrofit the entire fleet.

Thank you,

TTC

Blair's stern warning to cops released

An internal video message showing Toronto Police Chief Bill Blair reprimanding officers for bad behaviour has been released to Torstar News Service, though video clips illustrating misconduct were omitted.

Blair sent the video to 8,000 members of the police service through its own intranet in March. Though it had been viewed by a Torstar reporter at that time, police repeatedly refused to release the video. It was obtained through a municipal Freedom of Information request.

"If you want to be an idiot, you don't get to be an idiot wearing our uniform," Blair says in a stern, clear voice, sitting in front of a black backdrop in full uniform. "I am quite prepared to hold people accountable for their actions."

The original video included two clips as examples of bad behaviour. One of those clips showed 2010 footage from a police cruiser dashboard camera of Const. Christian Dobbs repeatedly hitting 30-year-old cook Raymond Costain. That video was entered as an exhibit in Costain's trial on impaired driving charges. A judge stayed the charges and ruled that Dobbs had used force that was "unnecessary, excessive and unjustified." On Thursday, the SIU said Dobbs would be charged with assault causing bodily harm.

A second clip reportedly shows a group of officers using "sexist, racist and profane language," according to a police source. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Bloc Party resurrects its swagger

Post-split renewal. Guitarist tells Metro why he thinks this time'll be different ... or maybe not

tarin.elbert@metronews.ca

When nasty infighting forced Bloc Party to split in 2009, after selling records by the millions and notching "album of the year" respect back home in Britain, few expected a resurrection. They were wrong.

Despite the fallout between enigmatic lead singer Kele Okereke and the rest of the lads (Russell Lissack, lead guitar; Gordon Moakes, bass; and Matt Tong on drums), the plucky foursome returned with a swagger last year, strutting a stellar new record and an attitude that belies the bitter backbiting of yesteryear.

When Metro caught up with Lissack, the muscle behind BP's signature wall-of-guitars sound, he seemed a bit down, despite the band's recent upswing.

"We're somewhere in Texas, our tour bus has broken down," sighed the fleet-of-finger string-bender.

Hope that isn't raising a ruckus with the mates?

"Things are different in the band," Lissack says. "We have amazing communication between the four of us now. When we were touring in the past, it was non-stop, everyone was getting kinda crazy ... which I'm sure will be happening again in a few weeks time," he jokes, breaking out of his funk.

After dabbling with electronica on their second and third LPs (A Weekend in the City, Intimacy) and two remix recordings that were steady spins in clubs, BP's latest, Four, skips back to the ripped guitar wail that made their much-heralded 2005 debut Silent Alarm such a smash.

"As we went on over the years, our sound was incorporating a lot more electronic elements, a reflection of the diverse musical tastes within the band. So, for me, it was nice to go back and rediscover my passion for the guitar with Four," says Lissack.

Rediscover he did. Cue up songs like Octopus, Kettling or Truth and comparisons with the slamming guitar blueprint etched in the grooves of Silent Alarm come easily — Lissack showing us he can nail heads-down licks with the best of them.

New kids on the Bloc

"We are past that 'dark' period."
Bloc Party lead guitarist Russell Lissack

Surprisingly, even after more than a decade of touring, the 32-year-old Lissack still suffers from the odd bout of stage fright.

"It's much better now," he confesses, "but I used to get drunk a lot before a show. Since we've been back I haven't been drinking as much and have been enjoying the performing rather than being terrified of it."

Cheers to that.

Bellmere Winds Cottage & Golf Resort was the answer for a family's search for the perfect cottage alternative.

The search for a family cottage isn't as easy as one might think. Its location, amenities, activities for the kids, and more importantly fitting the purchase into the family budget. Everyone has a fond memory of spending summers at the cottage, and if you don't you must have heard a story or two. The cottage experience is as Canadian as peameal bacon and real maple syrup and should be experienced by everyone at least once in their life.

As we looked into cottages, we found it was quite simple to find something to rent, but what about ownership?

The thought of being able to escape after a long week at work would be great, plus the kids having a safe and memorable place to spend their summers would be more than perfect.

After a lot of research, what we found is, that cottages can be very expensive to say the least. Gone are the days when I grew up, where a $20,000 investment got you a family cottage on the lake. The cottages we liked seemed to cost as much as our home, if not more, with some over four hundred thousand dollars. The more we thought about owning a cottage the more we realized it would mean two houses to maintain financially and physically. After all the whole idea was to get away from cutting grass and fixing things so I could spend more time with my children and simply relax.

So what was the answer? Bellmere Winds Cottage & Golf Resort on the shores of Rice Lake was the perfect spot for me and my family. A short drive from the GTA, Bellmere Winds was one of the best waterfront properties we had come across offering panoramic views of the golf course and Rice Lake.

Now, I'm not a good golfer, fact is I'm pretty bad, but this location was begging me to give the game another try.

At first we were worried we'd be paying for memberships and fees for golfing even if we didn't use the course, but soon found out, that was not the case.

It sounded all too good to be true, full ownership, maintenance free and activities for the kids...so what was the catch?

There wasn't one.

After the relaxing resort tour, we knew Bellmere Winds was the perfect alternative for our family.

We got a beautiful location on the water, a short drive from our home and a budget-friendly family "resort cottage" that we own.

"Resort Cottages" are the affordable way to own a family summer getaway. These 3-season homes are beautifully furnished and professionally decorated with "at home" amenities including full-sized kitchens, 4-piece baths and large finished decks. The Resort Cottages are available in two and three bedroom floor plans that can sleep up to eight people. And you can get it all from as little as $76,900 to $126,900.

PLUS we can earn up to $10,000 renting our cottage out when we're not using it, with Ventura Resorts Rental Program!

Miss World pageant covers up this year

Indonesia. Pageant contestants will have to opt for more conservative sarongs instead of bikinis

Miss World has axed the famed bikinis from this year's pageant in Indonesia, replacing the skimpy swimsuits with conservative beach sarongs amid mounting protests from hardline Muslim groups, organizers said Thursday.

All of the more than 130 contestants will be required to wear Bali's traditional long sarongs instead of the sexy bikinis that are historically part of the competition, said Adjie S. Soeratmadjie of the RCTI, the official broadcaster and local organizer.

Parts of the pageant will take place on the resort island of Bali and the final round will be held Sept. 28 near the capital, Jakarta. Indonesia is the world's most populous Muslim country.

"There will be no bikini in this year's Miss World pageant to respect our traditional customs and values," Soeratmadjie said, adding that the London-based Miss World Organization is on board with the decision.

"This is a sensitive issue in Indonesia. We have discussed it since last year and they have agreed," he said.

The chairwoman of the Miss World Organization, Julia Morley, confirmed that none of the 137 contestants would wear a bikini.

Tighter rules. New bill tabled by feds adds more criteria for injection sites

The federal government has introduced tough new rules for supervised drug-injection sites, in a move some see as an effort to deter such facilities.

The government says it's a response to a Supreme Court of Canada ruling that ordered the Conservatives to keep a Vancouver clinic open against their will.

But NDP health critic Libby Davies said the government is effectively blocking any chance of setting up a new clinic.

The new legislation would require advocates of new clinics to meet two dozen specific criteria before they can apply to open a new clinic. Among other things, they would have to canvass community opinion and gain the support of provincial and municipal authorities.

The health minister would then make the final decision.

As Health Minister Leona Aglukkaq tabled her bill on Thursday, she made it clear which way she will lean.

"Our government believes that a site involving the use of illicit substances should be strictly controlled to protect everyone in the community," she told reporters. "Accordingly, we believe that the application process needs to be changed to create formal opportunities for local voices to be heard and their views considered before an exemption would be considered."

The Conservative Party immediately followed up with a plea to party supporters to sign a petition to "keep heroin out of our backyards."

Sex ed. Changes being sought for Ontario's sex education curriculum

The teacher consultant for a Windsor school board is part of a growing chorus — which includes the University of Toronto, Public Health Ontario and The Hospital for Sick Children — calling for Ontario to release its updated sexual education curriculum.

The existing curriculum has remained mostly unchanged since 1998, and a lot has happened since then, says Sharon Seslija, of Greater Essex County District School Board.

"Kids as young as five have access to online pornography, for example, and we need a curriculum that addresses those issues before kids have to deal with them on their own," Seslija says.

Former premier Dalton McGuinty had proposed new sex education curriculum, meant to begin in 2010. However, the changes were left out after being opposed by religious groups and other detractors.

The proposed curriculum included teaching Grade 7 students about contraception and sexually transmitted infections and giving Grade 1 students the correct terminology for genitalia.

"If we look at other provinces, they introduce that language in kindergarten," Seslija said.

By continuing to drag their feet on sex ed, Seslija said the government is risking not only the physical and mental health of children, but also increased health care costs associated with STIs and unwanted pregnancies.

Activist killed in fight with neo-Nazis

France. Four suspects with alleged ties to extreme-right movements arrested

A group of neo-Nazis beat a French far-left activist to death in the heart of Paris' shopping district, officials said Thursday, in an attack that raised fears of increased far-right violence.

Political tensions are high in France after months of protests against legalizing gay marriage that sometimes ended with troublemakers from the extreme right clashing with police.

Interior Minister Manuel Valls said a fight broke out Wednesday evening between two groups of young people in a pedestrian street just steps away from the famous Printemps department store. The activist, Clement Meric, was initially hospitalized in grave condition, then died Thursday, said Agnes Thibault-Lecuivre, spokeswoman for the Paris prosecutor's office.

Four suspects, aged 20 to 37, were arrested, Thibault-Lecuivre said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Politicians react

Politicians from left and right lashed out at the violence.

- "There is no place for small neo-Nazi groups whose enemy is the nation," said France's Interior Minister, Manuel Valls.

Elliot Lake. Mall declared 'structurally sound' weeks before deadly collapse

An engineer had long known about severe rusting of steel beams at a mall in northern Ontario when he signed off on a report declaring the structure sound less than two months before it collapsed, a judicial inquiry heard Thursday.

Testifying at the probe into last year's tragedy, Gregory Saunders said his partner, Robert Wood, prepared the inspection report, and he signed it on May 3, 2012.

"We would consider the members still structurally sound," the report stated.

Organ donation. Dying girl, 10, placed on adult waiting list for lung

The national organ-transplant network has complied with a judge's order and placed a dying 10-year-old girl on the adult waiting list for a lung.

The Organ Procurement and Transplantation Network added her to the list Wednesday night after U.S. District Judge Michael Baylson's ruling, U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius said Thursday.

The girl, Sarah Murnaghan, also remains on the priority list for a lung from a pediatric donor, Sebelius said.

Sarah's parents had challenged existing policy that made children under 12 wait for pediatric lungs to become available, or be offered lungs donated by adults.

Canadian seeks record for wine label collection

Guinness attempt.
Toronto man has more than 160,000 labels — although he didn't drink all that vino

It would take more than four consecutive days to view every item in what just might be the world's largest wine-label collection.

Toronto resident and former sommelier Alain Laliberte owns about 160,000 wine labels, carefully stored in 123 shoeboxes. He has contacted Guinness World Records because he is confident he has enough to break the current high of 16,349 labels.

Of course, he hasn't managed to taste the contents of all 160,000 bottles. But with an average of 5,000 wines sampled per year, he's not that far off.

Quoted

"It's interesting that some people find an interest in these small pieces of paper. Some of them are pieces of art."
Wine-label collector Alain Laliberte

Laliberte's hobby led last weekend to him becoming the jury president at a wine-labels championship, organized as part of the International Wine Championship in Quebec City.

Jurors selected an Ontario ice wine, Coldhearted Riesling 2007, as the winner among the 81 competitors from different countries. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Strawberry fields under the weather

At least 40 per cent of Nova Scotia's strawberry industry, a sector worth about $18 million annually, has been damaged by an insect-borne virus, provincial Agriculture Minister John MacDonell said Thursday. The virus is carried by aphids and has been detected in the Debert area, near Truro, as well as the Annapolis Valley. But MacDonell said he wasn't worried about the possibility of the virus spreading much further because of the relatively short distances aphids travel. The affected plants aren't harmful to eat but they are often stunted and can't be sold, and berries may disappear from the plants. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

1 Sexy specs. Google Glass users were briefly treated to some mobile porn before the Internet giant's moral police yanked it out from under them. The perfectly respectable app, entitled T*ts and Glass, allowed users to share unfiltered content, and they stopped it. Kudos to Google for taking a stand and saying, "Hey, you can watch porn on your desktops, laptops and smartphones all you want, just not while you're crossing the street, dammit!"

2 Calling occupants. NASA Prof. Joel Levine is looking for $650 million to finance an aerial regional-scale environmental survey. Basically, a robotic, rocket-powered airplane to fly around Mars searching for trace gases that prove there is life on the planet. We have no information on how much the Martians spent probing Earth for humans with trace gases.

3 Badass Biebs. Justin Bieber is smoking weed, getting inked, hanging with gangsta rappers, and wearing white undershirts with gold chains. He's taken to fast cars and has even added a lazy little ghetto-strut to his walk. I am just waiting for his first teardrop tattoo so I can actually start listening to his music.

4 Subcellular. A recent study revealed that even though Google's Android phones captured a majority of the U.S. smartphone market share, the average iPhone user spends more than 50 per cent more time actually using their device than Android users. The reason? Porn.

5 Forever young. Researchers in Australia performed a study of sun damage among 900 people. Some applied sunscreen on a daily basis, while others used it only when they felt exposed. After four years, those using sunscreen religiously had 24 per cent less skin aging than the others. They were also extremely pale, completely broke, and more prone to having objects slip from their greasy hands.

6 For the ladies. A Dutch company called Emotional Brain is performing clinical trials of a new drug, Lybrido. The female Viagra is said to treat hypoactive sexual desire disorder. HSDD is a lack of sexual desire affecting many women. If the research proves successful, scientists will immediately begin work on another pill that will make women care enough to take the first one.

7 Double dribble. Former NBA all-stars Jason Kidd and Grant Hill were drafted one after the other in 1994, shared Rookie of the Year honours in 1995, and at 40, were among the five oldest players in the league this year. This week, two days after Grant Hill retired, Jason Kidd announced he would do the same. Sources close to Hill say he is looking for a new home as far away from Kidd as possible.

8 This week. In 1969, Keith Richards and partner Anita Pallenberg were in a car accident near their home in Sussex. While the car was written off and Pallenberg suffered a broken collarbone, Richards escaped serious injury, proving once again that Keith cannot be killed.

9 Also this week. In 1997, Oasis guitarist Noel Gallagher played a five-song set at the Tibet Freedom Concert. He then walked off stage, got drunk and punched out a fan. I'm kidding. That was not the night he punched out a fan.

10 Happy anniversary. To my wife of several years, thanks for putting up with me.

Synopsis

This new buddy comedy pairs Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn for the first time since 2005's Wedding Crashers. They are Nick and Billy, two wild and crazy guys whose sales jobs are made obsolete in the technological age. Unable to get a foothold in the new media field they crash Google's Mountain View, Calif. headquarters and become "noogles" in hopes of landing gigs as interns, despite having no experience with computers. "We're looking at some sort of mental Hunger Games against a bunch of genius kids for just a handful of jobs," says Nick.

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Searching for laughs

The Internship.
Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn fail to rekindle that Wedding Crashers magic in this poor man's version of Revenge of the Nerds

Richard: Mark, this is the funniest infomercial I've ever seen. As a comedy movie it doesn't rate that high, but as an advertisement for Google it's a knee slapper. I've seen product placement in movies before, but this is something else. By the time Rose Byrnes' character says, "I believe what we do here makes people's lives better," I was ready to worship at the Church of the Sacred Search Engine. We also learn that Google is ranked as the best place to work in America. That's all great, but I was hoping for more laughs with my infomercial. What did you think?

Mark: Ugh! The shameless corporate tie-in made me want to take a shower. And it opens up the door for less savoury companies to do the same thing: can Monsanto: The Movie be far behind? It's too bad, because the leads are great, and it's a great premise — but I didn't laugh once. It could have been a version of Animal House set at a business behemoth, but comes off as a bad Revenge of the Nerds. The idea would make a great reality series, but the movie flops and feels engineered from the first frame onwards.

RC: I'm not so sure I thought the leads were great. There are some laughs in The Internship. Unfortunately, very few of them are generated by Vaughn and Wilson. The chemistry that made Wedding Crashers such a big hit eight years ago is still in place, but the material isn't. They still banter a blue streak but it feels tired and old, like many of the jokes. The two luddites at a tech mecca should have been workable, but it often feels like laughing at grandpa because he can't figure out how to work the remote.

MB: I meant the leads are great, but not in this movie! Everything seems laboured, underscored, and over directed. These two guys may preach the value of eccentricity in the workplace, but the script defies their goal at every turn. It's a very conventional movie that's even a little smarmy at times. The old Vince Vaughn would have made fun of the sentimentality that crowds any good moments out of the picture. And Wilson's role is just too vaporous to register.

RC: Perhaps next time the screenwriters can Google some better jokes.

MB: I say Yahoo! to that.

There's not much 'Buzz' in space: Aldrin

While astronaut Buzz Aldrin enjoys movies about space, he doesn't always think they get it right. His main point of contention after seeing After Earth: "There was a lot of noise. In space, you don't get that much noise."

Aldrin, who followed Neil Armstrong onto the surface of the moon during the historic Apollo 11 landing in 1969, says that "noise doesn't propagate in a vacuum. We talked over headsets."

Aldrin enjoyed the father-son dynamic between Will Smith and son Jaden, but thought there was a little too much "shoot'em-up" for his taste. "I hope the aliens are more peaceful than they are in this film, wherever they are," Aldrin joked.

Thriller

The Purge

Director. James DeMonaco

Stars. Ethan Hawke, Lena Headey

To call The Purge cooked-up is an injustice to baked goods. A dystopian futuristic thriller about a family enduring an annual 12-hour government-backed event whereby crimes of any sort are legal (somehow this curbs violence the other 364 days of the calendar?) is as contrived and callous as cinema gets. If the filmmaker's aim was to create a moral allegory akin to A Clockwork Orange, he didn't even come within an eyelash.
STEVE GOW

Comedy

The Kings of Summer

Director. Jordan Vogt-Roberts

Stars. Nick Robinson, Nick Offerman

Like many of today's comedies, The Kings of Summer features scores of free-associational ad-libbing, often by staffers on NBC's Thursday night lineup. But give it credit: It at least has a genuinely silly plot, not something you can just shoot on the fly. Sick of the tyrannical parenting of his gruff, widowed dad (Nick Offerman), Ohio high schooler Joe (Nick Robinson) convinces longtime bestie Patrick to run away into the woods. Most of what makes The Kings of Summer questionably tolerable is that it's frequently inspired. MATT PRIGGE

Action/Drama

The East

Director. Zal Batmanglij

Stars. Brit Marling, Alexander Skarsgård, Ellen Page

Brit Marling stars as corporate spy Jane Owen whose job involves infiltrating a shadowy group of eco-terrorists called The East. The collective, run by charismatic anarchist Benji (Alexander Skarsgård), is on the eve of their biggest demonstration yet, an act of sabotage that will make a very public statement. Sarah is accepted by the group, save for the truculent Izzy (Ellen Page), and begins to develop Stockholm syndrome. Or does she? The East plays like a mix between Bourne Identity and Tailor Tinker Soldier Spy. It's a tense thriller that values smarts over action. RICHARD CROUSE

Drama

Before Midnight

Director. Richard Linklater

Stars. Ethan Hawke, Julie Delpy,

If you're a fan of the "Before" movies, watching Before Midnight will be like reconnecting with old friends. In the almost 20 years since we first met Jesse and Celine (Ethan Hawke and Julie Delpy) they have flirted and talked through the vagaries of life in two films, Before Sunset and Before Sunrise. Now they are a committed couple with twin daughters, but their introspection continues courtesy of beautifully written and performed conversations that explore how fissures can develop no matter how deep a couple's connection.
RICHARD CROUSE

Documentary

Peaches Does Herself

Director. Peaches

Stars. Dannii Daniels, Sandy Kane, Peaches

Electronic musician Peaches takes the stage in Peaches Does Herself, a veritable rock opera that traces the Toronto native's journey from aspiring musician to feminist pioneer. The concert-documentary, which integrates music from the 46-year-old's four albums, has a strong transsexual platform, and proves to be every bit as outrageous as its star. Although a flimsy narrative gets lost in the shock factor, Peaches' brave challenging of gender norms is refreshing for its no-apologies delivery.
MANORI RAVINDRAN

Documentary

Free The Mind

Director. Phie Ambo

Free the Mind follows a study group of U.S. Iraq/Afghanistan war veterans taking a scientific approach to a spiritual practice — meditation. With a side narrative about a young boy suffering ADHD, the film explores how rhythmic breathing and yoga could be a remedy to modern behavioural problems. Heavy on the nuts and bolts, light on the history and spiritualism, Free the Mind is missing some vital context, and despite compelling footage of the vets, falls flat.

3 songs for the weekend

This week's selection is brought to you by the letter M — Ministry, Misstallica, Michael Jackson vs. Daft Punk

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

Keys to the City/Ministry

Al Jourgensen is a massive Blackhawks fan — so massive that he wrote the team's official anthem. They play this all the time at the United Centre.

Master of Puppets/ Misstallica

Tribute bands have their own subculture. Below that, though, are all-female bands paying tribute to all-male bands. Start with this and move on to Vag Halen and AC/DShe.

Billie Jean Get Lucky/Michael Jackson vs. Daft Punk

This mash-up by Israeli DJ Noyaloosha works astonishingly well. Can we just go ahead and declare Get Lucky the song of the summer already?

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

#23

As recommended by Dr. Gifford-Jones M. D.

Loose muscles in the throat cause snoring, also interrupted breathing and gasping for air (sleep apnea), which brings on being tired all day, need for napping, high blood pressure, strokes, heart attacks, irregular heart beat. Read below how Bell helps thousands, usually first night, inexpensively, with no side effects. Greatly improves quality of life and saves marriages. Survey says 48% snore and 75% are suffering if you include the silent suffering partners. To my surprise, after taking BellSound Sleep #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. Using Bell#23, my wife says there is no more snoring or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON.

CTV adds Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D. to fall lineup

Buzzy shows starring Toni Collette, Josh Holloway, Malin Akerman and Bethenny Frankel are joining a revamped CTV lineup, but the network is touting a relative scarcity of new series as testament to a consistent, stable schedule.

The market leader notes it's picked up only four new dramas, two new comedies and one new unscripted series for prime time this fall.

They include the Collette thriller Hostages, also featuring Dylan McDermott and Tate Donovan; Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D., created by Joss Whedon; the paranormal drama The Tomorrow People and the police drama Played.

The Whedon show will anchor a whole new lineup Tuesday, to be followed by the '80s-set family comedy The Goldbergs and the new sitcom Trophy Wife, starring Bradley Whitford and Akerman. The night is capped by Person of Interest, which jumps to CTV after previously airing on City.

Meanwhile, budding chefs are the stars of Junior Masterchef, a spin-off of the culinary competition series that will showcase talented kids between the ages of eight and 13 in food challenges and cook-offs.

Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D. HANDOUT

More is on the way for mid-season, with additions including Holloway's high-tech spy show Intelligence, the mystical drama Believe from Lost creator J.J. Abrams and Masterchef Canada, a Canadian version of the Gordon Ramsay hit.

Mid-season comedies include Kirstie Alley in her self-titled comedy, Kirstie, the serialized sitcom Mixology, Dave Foley's new multi-cam comedy Spun Out, and the '90s-set family comedy Surviving Jack, with former Law & Order: Special Victims Unit star Christopher Meloni.

"Year-after-year, CTV offers programming consistency and durability not found anywhere else," Phil King, president of CTV programming and sports, said Thursday in a statement.

Executives were to introduce the new lineup with all-day promotional events Thursday featuring Frankel, Donovan and Delroy Lindo from Believe.

Daytime this fall will see the addition of the homegrown talk show The Social and the official arrival of Frankel's talk show Bethenny, which previewed with a short run last year.

And Late Night with Jimmy Fallon joins CTV in the fall, with Seth Meyers in the chair this winter after Fallon leaves to take over The Tonight Show from Jay Leno. It will follow The Daily Show and lead into Conan. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Daily Show with John Oliver? Well, it beats being a drug mule

The other John.
Comedian didn't hesitant at the chance to fill in at the anchor desk

John Oliver will substitute-anchor for eight weeks of new shows before Jon Stewart's return on Sept. 3. CHARLES SYKES/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Since 2006, John Oliver has proved his mettle as a phoney journalist on The Daily Show.

Serving in numerous "reporting" roles on the spoof newscast, but chiefly as senior British correspondent, the Birmingham, England-born Oliver is school-boyish, poker-faced and emphatic in explaining America to itself — whether the topic is Occupy Wall Street, gun control or the N-word. And he's satisfied that his accent from across the pond makes anything he says, however off-kilter, sound authoritative here in the New World.

Recently Oliver said a simple "yes" to his boss, Jon Stewart, who means to take the summer off to make a feature film and asked Oliver to fill in for him at the Daily Show anchor desk.

"I'll say yes to anything he wants me to do," Oliver explains at the Daily Show offices in midtown Manhattan. "I owe him so much — he brought me over here (to the U.S.) seven years ago — so I'll do anything he wants, whether it's hosting his show or operating as a drug mule between here and Bogota. As it happens," adds Oliver, looking relieved, "what he wanted was just hosting this show." In the coming months, Stewart will be directing and producing Rosewater from his own script based on a book by Iranian journalist Maziar Bahari, who was falsely accused of being a spy and imprisoned by the Iranian government in 2009 while covering Iran's presidential election.

And starting Monday, Oliver will preside on The Daily Show (which airs at 11 p.m. EDT Mondays through Thursdays on Comedy Central). He will substitute-anchor for eight weeks of new shows before Stewart's return on Sept. 3.

"He's got all the talents and he's gonna be great," declared Stewart in a separate interview. "And he can handle the speed of it. You want somebody in that position for everybody else on the staff, so they don't feel they have to slow down."

REVOLUTION

MAKE POSITIVE CHANGE HAPPEN

REVOLUTION SHOWS HOW WE CAN HELP WORLD'S OCEANS

CONTRIBUTED

June 8 is World Oceans Day, and there is no better way to celebrate than by learning why our oceans are in trouble. To do that, you don't need to go to a lecture, read a book, or even a website — you just need to go to the movies.

Revolution, the new documentary by Canadian director-activist Rob Stewart, gives you the information for which you are looking. Its message is clear — our oceans are in trouble. Through environmental mismanagement and inaction, governments and corporations around the world have allowed the acidity of ocean water to steadily rise. The result — species are disappearing. And what happens underwater eventually happens on land.

But this process can be halted. Stewart travels the world in Revolution, showing us how grassroots environmental movements are making positive change happen — and how we can help. Along the way, he introduces us to some of the globe's most beautiful underwater fauna, like Pfeffer's Flamboyant Cuttlefish, an invertebrate the size of a biscuit that changes colour at will and nests in a pop can. This animal is threatened, but if we are willing to act, it can be saved.

Revolution debuted at the 2012 Toronto International Film Festival, where it was named runner-up for best documentary. It was later named 'most popular environmental film' at the Vancouver International Film Festival. It has received praise from major figures in the environmental movement, including David Suzuki, and from the public, which made Revolution the highest grossing Canadian film in 2013 to date.

What these successes prove is that a movie that teaches can also entertain. Among the film's most enthusiastic supporters have been educators — to date, almost 200 school groups have seen Revolution. Recently, NBC Universal and D Films, the documentary's distributor, announced a contest encouraging students to submit written or video essays explaining their plans for environmental change in their own communities. The 10 winning essayists receive $2,500 each towards their education.

"Knowing what is happening to our oceans, and how to stop it, is the most important information in the world," Stewart says. "This is our biggest battle — ever."

Revolution plays in select theatres on World Oceans Day and will be available Aug. 13 on DVD, Blu-ray, iTunes, and video-on-demand.

'I would watch it all the time,' Snooki says of a Bynes reality show

Former Jersey Shore star Nicole "Snooki" Polizzi thinks Amanda Bynes' antics would best be showcased on a reality show.

"I just think she's entertaining. And I think she needs a reality show because I would watch it all the time," Snooki tells E! News. "If she needed help, I would wish that she would get it, obviously, but she's entertaining. She's my guilty pleasure on Twitter."

Tatum worries about Bieber

Despite having a newborn daughter at home to concern himself with, Channing Tatum admits he's more worried about another young person: Justin Bieber. "I do believe that whatever age you become famous, you end up staying that age," Tatum tells Vanity Fair. "I worry about Bieber, man. That kid's wildly talented. I hope he doesn't fall down into the usual ways of young kids because it's so hard for someone to be responsible when they're not asked to be."

Pop stars in space

This may or may not give Channing Tatum more reason to be concerned: Justin Bieber has booked a spot on a Virgin Galactic suborbital space flight, according to Virgin founder Richard Branson. "Great to hear Justin Bieber and (his manager) Scooter Braun are latest Virgin Galactic future astronauts. Congrats, see you up there," Branson posted to Twitter this week. Bieber seemed to confirm the news by re-tweeting the mogul's sentiments. Back in February, Bieber tweeted that he wants to "do a concert in space," so perhaps this is more of a scouting trip than a vacation.

Planning a wedding is no piece of cake, although you do get one in the end. But the road to the big day can be bumpy, especially when it comes to choosing wine to be served for that all important toast to the bride.

Try to focus on wines that will charm everyone from your know-it-all boss to your new mother-in-law. Worry less about what you prefer and more about what the majority of your guests will enjoy.

Then there's the cost. Here is where size matters. There's a savings component when you trade up, so bigger is always better.

The selection of 1.5 litre bottles varies wildly across the country. So does their flavour profiles, with many "Canadian" versions made from a blend of imported and domestic juice.

Chile offers some of the best value when it comes to larger bottles, with Concha y Toro's 2011 Frontera Cabernet Sauvignon Merlot (1,500 ml, $13.95 to $19.99) offering bright, red berry fruit and Frontera Sauvignon Blanc (1,500 ml, $13.95 to $19.99) showing off gooseberry and citrus expression.

Truth be told, they're what I served at my nuptials.

A great way to make your own healthier pizzas is to use thin flour tortillas or pita bread rather than the thick pizza dough that has more calories than nutrients!

Use whatever vegetables and cheese you like.

1. Preheat the oven to 400 F. Place pita bread or tortillas on pizza metal or ceramic dish.

2. Divide the tomato sauce among the breads, ensuring to spread evenly.

Ingredients

- 4 flour small tortillas or pita breads (preferably whole wheat)
- 3/4 cup tomato pasta sauce
- 8 small mushrooms, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup diced sweet red or green pepper
- 1 tbsp chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 tsp dried oregano
- 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped feta cheese (optional)

This recipe serves eight or makes 16 hors d'oeuvres. MARK SHAPIRO, FROM ROSE REISMAN BRINGS HOME LIGHT COOKING (ROBERT ROSE)

3. Top with mushrooms, red pepper, basil and oregano. Sprinkle with cheeses.

4. Bake the pizza for 12 minutes or until it is crisp and the cheese is melted.

Just Opened: Burger's Priest's 3rd location

Everyone's favourite burger mongers, Burger's Priest, just opened their third location this week, and this one's centrally-located for all to enjoy. Occupying a prime spot near Queen and Spadina (463 Queen West), the new location boasts the same burgers we've all grown to love, and has just enough seating for a quick bite on-site.

Just Opened: Fika Cafe, Kensington

From Chef Victor Barry (Splendido, The County General) and Nikki Leigh McKean comes the adorable new Fika Cafe. Nestled prettily in Kensington Market (at 28 Kensington Ave.), Fika is serving up amazing edibles (many of which are made at Splendido) alongside espressos and javas from Toronto-based Pilot Coffee Roasters.

Just Opened: The Wren Pub

A new pub has sprung up on the Danforth, albeit rather east. Serving up classic fare — like guacamole and chips, pork croquettes, brisket sandwiches, burgers, and pot pie — and oodles of libations to whet any palate, The Wren is bringing new offerings to the Greek-cuisine-filled area of Toronto. You can find it at 1382 Danforth.

Woofstock

On Saturday and Sunday in the St. Lawrence Market Area (Front Street from Church to Jarvis), get your bark on at the annual Woofstock. North America's largest festival for dogs, dog owners, and dog admirers, Woofstock is a veritable cute consortium, bringing together pounds of pooches to play the day away as owners peruse services and products to pamper their pups.

TSO Tailgate and Late Night Concert

On June 15, get your tailgates ready for one heck of an evening. Trading in sports for sound, the TSO Tailgate and Late Night Concert combines the best of summer's favourite pastime with the passion and fervour for instrumentation only the Toronto Symphony Orchestra can bring. Going down outside Roy Thomson Hall (60 Simcoe St.) this is one street fest you don't want to miss.

Bazinga! It's festival time

On Saturday at the Royal Ontario Museum (100 Queen's Park) get ready for a blast as Luminato presents their inaugural fundraiser, The Big Bang Bash. Debuting Viktor&Rolf's Dolls exhibit as part of the programming, the night will see the ROM becoming even more of an artistic and cultural hub, as attendees will mix and mingle and toast to Toronto's famed festival.

DOG DAYS OF SUMMER

FUN ACTIVITIES FOR YOU AND YOUR PET

GEM PHOTOGRAPHY/VEER

Discover the joy of being active with your canine companion. Try some of these fun activities:

1 Go for a walk. Sounds basic, but many pet owners don't make it a daily practice. "Behaviour problems and obesity — the No. 1 medical problem for dogs — can arise from inadequate exercise," says Dr. Deji Odetoyinbo, a veterinarian with a busy urban practice in Toronto and 12 years experience in emergency medicine.

2 Play fetch. Whether you use balls, squeak toys or some other retrievable object, many dogs love fetching. "Dogs are social animals and retrieving something is an interaction that's mentally gratifying and intensely rewarding."

3 Go for a swim. Dogs generally like water, but swimming comes with a few caveats. "Not every breed should be allowed in water — bulldogs in particular," Odetoyinbo says. "Make sure the current is safe. And remember that floating algae can be deadly, so if the water has a blue-green film, keep your dog out."

4 Go for obedience training. This is especially important for younger dogs, but even old dogs can learn new tricks. "It's also a good way to solidify the bond between pet and owner."

5 Take your dog visiting. A well-behaved dog can do wonders for seniors and those with developmental disabilities. "Talk to your vet first to ensure your dog has the right temperament and is free of communicable health problems, since some people you encounter may be immune-compromised," Odetoyinbo says.

6 Go on vacation. "Just make sure to take along first aid items, medications and food (in case you can't get your regular brand where you are going). Give your dog plenty of bathroom breaks, water and cool air while driving. Ensure immunizations are up to date and check that your destination is pet friendly."

IOFOTO/VEER

STRETCHING YOUR LEGS WITH YOUR FOUR-LEGGED FRIEND

To keep walks happy, comfortable and safe, here is a quick list of things to consider when you are out and about with your four-legged friend this summer, compiled with the help of Dr. Deji Odetoyinbo, a Toronto veterinarian with 12 years experience in emergency medicine.

Plan your route. It's easy to head out, then find that you have gone too far and your pet is struggling. "Especially short-faced breeds like pugs and bulldogs can suffer severe respiratory distress if they're exercised on hot days," Odetoyinbo says.

Stay on the grass. Concrete or paved surfaces can cause burned foot pads if you are walking on a hot day. "Staying on a path or grassy surface will keep paws cooler and act as better cushioning for a dog's joints."

Go early or late. "Many dogs keep going until they drop, so it's important to ensure they don't get overheated. Walk early or late in the day when it's cooler."

Take a leash. "Even if you're headed to an off-leash zone, your pet should be leashed en route." Not all dogs are well-behaved in the dog park, so it's best to be able to leash your pet if it or other dogs it is playing with are acting up.

Carry enough poop bags. One dog, one bag, right? Wrong! You may need extras sincesome dogs go multiple times — or someone else in the park might be stuck. "Three bags is a good number," Odetoyinbo says.

Don't forget water. Most dogs aren't trained to drink out of a bottle. "There are great collapsible containers that double as a dispenser that are handy and easy to carry." Check your local pet store.

Spurs dig deep for early series lead over Heat

NBA Finals. Duncan and Parker key San Antonio offence, while Leonard keeps James on perimeter

Game 1

Spurs	Heat
92	88

The San Antonio Spurs returned to the NBA Finals just the way they left — with a victory over LeBron James.

Tim Duncan overcame a slow start to finish with 20 points and 14 rebounds, Tony Parker banked in a desperation jumper with 5.2 seconds left and the Spurs withstood James' triple-double to beat the Miami Heat 92-88 on Thursday night in a thrilling Game 1.

Parker ended up with 21 points after referees reviewed his shot to make sure it just beat the shot clock, giving San Antonio a four-point edge in a game that was close the whole way.

James had 18 points, 18 rebounds and 10 assists in his second straight NBA Finals triple-double, but he shot only 7-for-16 against some good defence by Kawhi Leonard, and Miami's offence stalled in the fourth quarter.

Playing for the championship for the first time since sweeping James' Cleveland Cavaliers in 2007, the Spurs improved to 5-for-5 in Game 1s, hanging around for three quarters and then blowing by the defending champions midway through the fourth.

Manu Ginobili, the third member of San Antonio's Big Three that has combined for 99 post-season victories together, finished with 13 points, and Danny Green had 12.

Game 2 is Sunday night.

James became a champion on this floor last year in Game 5 against Oklahoma City, but he hasn't forgotten his first taste of the finals.

The Spurs swept his Cavaliers in 2007 and James spoke Wednesday like someone who had payback in mind. He was 22 then, a fourth-year player headed for greatness but with holes in his game that San Antonio exploited in a four-game sweep.

Revenge won't come easily — if it comes at all.

Dwyane Wade scored 17 points for the Heat but was shut out in the fourth quarter. Chris Bosh had only two of his 13 in the final period.

James shot an airball on a 3-pointer on his first shot attempt, then was soon back to the step-in-front-of-him-at-your-own-risk force that has made him the game's best player.

But San Antonio handled that and everything else Miami did, even while only shooting 42 per cent from the field.

The Miami fans didn't like what they witnessed, many leaving as referees reviewed Parker's shot.

Hawks in homestretch against champs

Marian Hossa scored the tie-breaking goal early in the third period, and the Chicago Blackhawks moved to the brink of the Stanley Cup final with a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Kings on Thursday night in Game 4 of the Western Conference final.

Patrick Kane tapped home the tying goal as Chicago rallied from a second-period deficit to snap the defending Stanley Cup champions' 15-game home-winning streak dating all the way back to March. Bryan Bickell had a goal and an assist for the top-seeded Blackhawks, who took a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Slava Voynov and Dustin Penner scored for the Kings, who had won their first eight playoff games at Staples Center. The champs are in trouble after Jonathan Quick failed to match Corey Crawford, who made 19 saves.

Serena eyes return to French throne

Done with a dominating performance in the French Open semifinals, Serena Williams climbed the stairs leading from the locker-room to the players' lounge, looking to give her mother a hug.

Smiling widely all the while, Williams greeted visitors, posed for photos and signed autographs on her way.

It's been more than a decade since she was so happy — and played so well — this deep in the tournament at Roland Garros.

Coming as close to perfect as seems possible, Williams absolutely overwhelmed last year's runner-up, fifth-seeded Sara Errani of Italy, 6-0, 6-1 in a mere 46 minutes Thursday to reach the final for the first time since winning her lone French Open championship in 2002.

Problem solver

"I did the job. I just hope that I can improve for the next one."

Maria Sharapova, who overcame a shaky second set to win her French Open semifinal match against Victoria Azarenka on Thursday.

"It doesn't seem like that long ago," Williams said, "even though it was."

To collect her 16th Grand Slam title Saturday, Williams will need to beat defending champion Maria Sharapova, who put aside 11 double-faults and got past third-seeded Victoria Azarenka 6-1, 2-6, 6-4 in a much more competitive semifinal.

The final features the top two women in the rankings and seedings, No. 1 Williams and No. 2 Sharapova. They are two of three active women with more than two major championships; Sharapova completed a career Grand Slam in Paris last year.

Williams has won a career-best 30 consecutive matches, the longest single-season streak on tour since 2000.

Sharapova has won 13 consecutive matches in Paris.

But this one doesn't shape up as much of an even matchup with Williams 13-2 against Sharapova, including winning the last 12.

Love III, Appleby locked up at St. Jude

Davis Love III and Stuart Appleby shot 4-under 66 on Thursday for a share of the lead with four other players after the first round of the St. Jude Classic in Memphis.

Harris English, Nathan Green, Martin Flores and Glen Day also pushed their way into the lead on a day where at least three others had a piece of the top spot at some point.

Defending champ Dustin Johnson was 5 under through six holes, taking advantage of near-perfect conditions at the TPC Southwind. But Johnson finished with a 67 and was tied with 10 others including David Toms, a two-time winner here, and Shawn Stefani, who was tied for the lead before he hit into a fairway bunker and bogeyed No. 18.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
Try not to let your anxieties get the better of you. As Neptune turns retrograde in the most sensitive area of your chart today, you may see problems where none exist. Act as if life is wonderful — and it will be.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Today's events will encourage you to believe that all things are possible. But they could also tempt you to take foolish risks, so think before you act. If you make a mistake, fix it.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
Keep things simple today. Also, tread carefully when dealing with employers and other important people. They may see you as a threat and try to clip your wings.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
The planets warn you should watch what you say today, especially if you are one of those Cancerians who tend to speak before fully engaging your brain. You are entitled to your opinion but others are just as entitled to disagree.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
You will act on impulse quite a bit over the next 24 hours. Just be careful you don't say anything that could have a negative financial impact.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
Your emotions may be raging but you are determined not to let anyone know about it. That's probably a good move, because if your rivals realize how deep your feelings are, they may exploit them.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
Don't let your responsibilities weigh you down. It does not matter how much work you have to do or how far behind you are in your schedule, you must remain cheerful.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Others may give in to despair today but no way are you going to let it affect you. In fact, the more those around you indulge in feelings of doom and gloom, the more you will laugh at them.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
Don't feel guilty about what happens to others. You are not responsible for the world and its woes and those who say you are should be laughed at loud and long.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Neptune's apparent change of direction in the travel area of your chart will leave you a bit confused about what you should be doing and where you should be going. The good news is there's no need to rush.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
You may think you know what is going on but the planets warn you are missing an important piece of the puzzle and it could cost you money. Whatever else you do today, don't take chances.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Neptune, your ruler, begins one of its retrograde phases today. Don't be surprised if important issues seem to move in the opposite direction of where you want them to.
